

Malfunctioning Power Converter

Request

The local power plant is running on fumes because their Power Converter is on its last legs. Your job? Deliver a new one before the whole district goes dark. It's delicate, though, so try not to break it on the way. If you manage to keep the lights on, you'll get #Reward#—and the gratitude of everyone who didn't have to sit in the dark for a week.

Response

Nice job. The converter is installed, and the power's back on. You've saved us from a blackout. Here's your reward—consider yourself the hero of the day. Just don't tell anyone it was almost your fault they lost power.
